Scope Database is a non-profit educational organization and does not collect any fee for indexing the journal and subscription.

Our aim is to provide comprehensive and free access to citation analysis databases to the global research community.

As a journal indexing company, we are looking at growing and becoming one of the major indexing databases across the globe. We see that there is a huge potential and opportunities for the kind of services and products which we offer. The company has a global vision for growth.

Now we would like to invite the people who are willing to contribute to our new initiative as knowledge or financial partners.

We hope to make the development but we cannot do it alone. A little contribution from your side will be a lot for us.
